

Contents

Acknowledgements 8

1. Introduction 10

Fashion and Soviet modernity 10
Fashion in a centrally planned economy 13
The founding of the Soviet Houses of Fashion 15
Fashion propaganda and the propaganda for fashion 18
Fashion and the satisfaction of human needs 20
Fashion and Soviet decency 23
Inspirations and restrictions 27
Previous studies of fashion under socialism 30
The plan of the book 33

2. The Formative Years of the Soviet Fashion Industry:
from the Russian Revolution to the end of Stalin's Rule 38

The Revolutionary Background of Soviet Fashion and Anti-Fashion 38
The 1930s: The Reanimation of Traditional Fashion 50
The Impact of War on the Soviet Fashion Design and Industry 55

3. Economic Development and Standard of Living in the USSR
after the Second World War: A Consumer's Perspective 57

Economic growth and consumption 57
Economic-administrative reforms 67
The main peculiarities of the Soviet consumer society 73

4. The Early Years of the Moscow, All-Union Fashion House 78

5. The Institutionalization of Soviet Fashion: The System of Clothing
Design and Fashion Organizations in the USSR (1960–1980) 92

Four Parallel Organizations 92
The General Structure of the Design Organizations at the Ministry of Light Industry 96

The Center point of Soviet fashion: The All-Union House of Fashion Design, ODMO 100

Standardizing Soviet Clothing Sizes: TsNIIShP and Other Scientific Research and Construction Organizations at the Ministry of Light Industry 108

The Highest Authority of Soviet Fashion: All-Union Institute of Product Assortment and Culture of Dress under the Ministry of Light Industry, VIALegprom 110

Fashion Design in the Garment Enterprises 113

Fashion Design in the Houses of Everyday Services 116

Fashion Designers in the Factories of Everyday Services 122

Special Units of Fashion Design for Centers of Everyday Services 123

The Law Giver of Fashion for the Service Centers: The Experimental Center of Clothing Design, TsOTShL 125

Closer to the Customer: Fashion Design in the Organizations of the Ministry of Local Industry 129

The Differentiation of Soviet Economic Administration 131

6. Fashion at GUM, the State Department Store at Moscow 133

Fashion under the Ministry of Trade 133

The opening of GUM 134

The Fashion Atelier 137

The Establishment of the Department of Fashion Design in GUM 141

GUM in Search of Its House Style 146

Working Days at the Department of Fashion Design at GUM 153

Publishing Activities at GUM 157

In the Demonstration Hall at GUM 160

The Models: “The Most Difficult Part of the Work” 164

The Call from Abroad 170

7. The Tallinn House of Fashion Design: A Gateway to the West 173

The Founding of the Tallinn House 173

New Designs and the Artistic Council 177

The Design Practice of the Tallinn House 180

The Economy and Basic Tasks of the House 182

The Siluett Fashion Journal 185

Contacts with the Other Soviet Fashion Houses 187

Fashion Shows and Exhibitions 188

An Almost European House of Fashion 190

8. Fashion in People’s Minds: The Public Discussion of the Culture of Dress in the Soviet Press 192

Fashion in the Press 192

News and Reports on Seasonal Fashion 199

Vyacheslav Zaitsev – A Celebrity among the Soviet Fashion Designers 202

News about the Fashion Events: From the Domestic Exhibitions and Shows to the Great Achievements of Soviet Fashion in the International Arena	207
Fashion and Customers' Complaints	211
The Question of the Small Series and firmennye magaziny	215
The Rules of Decency and the Proper Soviet Dress Code	218
The Everlasting Campaign against Bad Taste	222
The Soviet Ideology of Fashion	230
Street Fashion and Youth Fashion	238
Fashion: For or Against	240
The Unanimity and the Diversity of the Public Discussion on Soviet Fashion	242

9. Conclusion 244

Notes	253
Appendices	279
Abstract	284
References	286
Index of Names	296
Index of Subjects	299